

Abstract of the Invention

A digital optical data carrier in disc format having two separate discs adhered together. One of the discs has data storage in CD-format. The other disc has data storage in DVD-format. At least one surface has an optically readable information printed with a laser absorbing colorant.